1,000 Books Before Kindergarten

Books 801–900

801 802 803 804 805 806 807 808 809 810
811 812 813 814 815 816 817 818 819 820
821 822 823 824 825 826 827 828 829 830
831 832 833 834 835 836 837 838 839 840
841 842 843 844 845 846 847 848 849 850
851 852 853 854 855 856 857 858 859 860
861 862 863 864 865 866 867 868 869 870
871 872 873 874 875 876 877 878 879 880
881 862 883 884 885 886 887 888 889 890
891 892 893 894 895 896 897 898 899 900

stamp when completed

Words Everywhere

How can you share new words with your child?

Learn sign language: Teaching your baby simple signs like “milk” or “more” can help develop vocabulary even before they talk.

Name body parts: It’s a great game to play when taking a bath or changing clothes.

Put on a puppet show: Telling a story with puppets or stuffed animals gives you the opportunity to share new words.

PRINCE WILLIAM Public Libraries

Sponsored by the Prince William Library Foundation, Dominion Energy, NOVEC, and individual donors.

pwcva.gov/library

My Favorite Books