Director's Time – Director Wright reports Manassas City Library opened to curbside on February 2, 2021. The February 1, 2021 ribbon cutting event was cancelled due to inclement weather. The branch is doing well, it is a beautiful building. Director Wright urges everyone to visit when you can. The Prince William Board of County Supervisors approved the Bull Run Library proffer project. We will remove the large information desk, create two study rooms, add a Makerspace in the old RELIC space, expand and enhance the teen space and create a wall for sound mitigation in the children's area. The branch will be closed for six months, exact timeline not yet available. Director Wright will keep the Library Board updated.

A new Library of Virginia handbook for Advisory Boards provided to the Library Board tonight.

The County is moving to two-factor authentication process. The Library Board will receive an email with additional information and a link to a survey to identify how you prefer to receive authentication requests. Use of your County account more often will minimize your requests for authentication.

The Prince William County Executive's budget proposal was presented last week. Director Wright referred to the hand-out listing the two library initiatives in the proposed budget. The first is to replace library revenue from elimination of library fines for juvenile card holders. The second is to fund the data plan for the library hotspots.

Library staff were requested by County Leadership to assist on the vaccine call center. Deputy Director Coffin is the point of contact for the EOC. Eight library branches were closed. Four branches are providing curbside pickups, Chinn Park, Bull Run, Manassas City and Haymarket Gainesville. All are extremely busy. Public feedback on social media are supportive and unhappy about the loss of library services.

Deputy Director Coffin reports 80 staff members relocated to the vaccine call center, working seven days a week, 9am to 4:30pm. Quick snapshot, yesterday between 9a and 10a, library staff handled 250 calls, averaging 5,000 a week for library staff. Other county agencies have staff working the vaccine call center as well. No timeline when library services will be reinstated. Chinn Park February curbside pickups were 2,500 with 20,000 holds pulled.

Trustee Doerr asked how the State website, Vaccinate Virginia, will impact or reduce the need for library staff? Deputy Director Coffin answered library staff are scheduling citizens from the County waitlist to the State website.

Trustee Hassan asked what are library staff working on the vaccine call center saying about the experience? How has library staff working on the vaccine call center reduced the amount of time of citizens calling in? Deputy Director Coffin states wait-time has dropped dramatically, to about one minute. The experience is very gratifying and challenging.

Trustee Hassan asked Is it better to call the County call center or Vaccinate Virginia for scheduling? Deputy Director answered it depends on the information being requested. General questions or to be added to the waitlist are going through Vaccinate Virginia. Scheduling is being handled through the County call center.

Trustee Blindauer announces a virtual town hall next week, Thursday, March 4, 2021, 6pm to answer questions regarding the vaccine in Prince William County.

Trustee Morrill asked do you anticipate all 80 staff members will return at the same time or return in shifts? Deputy Director Coffin is not sure are this time.

Library Director Wright is very proud of all staff members working the vaccine call center. Deputy Director Coffin and the library supervisors/schedulers have impacted the success of the call center. It is very grueling and staff have received a lot of positive feedback. Also, staff from different branches are working together to make curbside pickup a success.

Trustees' Time

Trustee Kim – visited Manassas City Library. Stop by to see all of the great stuff in their windows. They have a bee keeping display if you are interested. Nice to meet Deputy Director Coffin.

Trustee Beattie – we appreciate how hard library staff work and you do make a big difference. Is heavily involved with Literacy Volunteers of America, Prince William. They are still holding virtual classes. Recently learned the founder of Literacy Volunteers of America, Prince William, Dona Swanson, passed away in January 2021. Ms. Swanson was a librarian with Prince William Public Libraries, working at Nokesville Library when she retired and few years ago. Trustee Beattie wanted to mention Ms. Swanson, her years of service and her meaning to the community. After being approached by a citizen asking for help to learn how to read, Ms. Swanson started LVA out of the trunk of her car and a spare bedroom, along with other stakeholders, who are still on the Board. Literacy Volunteers of America, Prince William has impacted thousands of adult learners and their families. Trustee Beattie and Trustee Turner currently are tutors with Literacy Volunteers of America, Prince William. Library Director Wright will mention Ms. Swanson's passing in the Summer Explore magazine. Trustee Beattie and a group from LVA have asked the Prince William Board of County Supervisors to issue a commendation for Ms. Swanson. Trustee Beattie has also reached out to Congressman Connolly's office to mention Ms. Swanson in the Congressional Record for her organizing Literacy Volunteers of America, Prince William. 30 years later, Literacy Volunteers of America, Prince William is still going strong. If you have time or would like to contribute, that would be greatly appreciated.

Trustee Blindauer – offers her appreciation of library staff and their flexibility during the past year. Doing a lot to carry out the mission of the library and other county departments as well. Occoquan District will gain new business in the near future as well as a new high school across from Tacketts Mill which may impact Chinn Park and Lake Ridge Libraries. A welcomed to Deputy Director Coffin.

Trustee Doerr – welcomed and congratulated the City of Manassas for the new branch opening. Thank you to call center employees. Our library system being able to assist Prince William County is an example for neighboring counties and around the country. Libraries are still open. Please visit our social media sites and our many resources available digitally with a library card. Have a good month.

Trustee Mueller – thanked Branch Administrator Mirna Turcios and Library Director Wright for setting up a tour for the Friends of the Manassas City Library. The library is beautiful. The children’s section is tremendous. Please visit when branch opens and it is safe. Very proud of library staff for stepping up to help on vaccine call center. Staff members not working the call center are very much appreciated as well. Everyone stay safe.

Trustee Hassan – thanked each and everyone for their patience moving back to curbside pickup and selected branch openings. You can still order books online, make an appointment and come pick them up. Library staff working at the vaccine call center. Many county residents are being assisted with registering for the Covid-19 vaccine.

Chairman Murphy asked how the February 1, 2021 program on National Hijab Day went? Trustee Hassan answered it went very well and asked Library Director Wright if she could find out if it was recorded in order to share with the Library Board.

Trustee Turner – the library staff working at the vaccine call center have made a huge difference to the community and it is greatly appreciated. Staff working the curbside pickups are doing an amazing job.

Trustee Morrill – picked up a holds at the Chinn Park Library. The curbside pickups process is a well-oiled machine. Staff make the pickup process very efficient.

With no further business before the board, Chairman Murphy declared the meeting adjourned.

BRANCH MONTHLY
REPORTS
FEBRUARY 2021

PUBLIC SERVICES MANAGEMENT
BULL RUN REGIONAL LIBRARY

TO: Deborah Wright, Library Director

FROM: Miriam Herrell, Branch Manager

SUBJECT: February 2021 Highlights

Bull Run sent ten staff members to the EOC vaccine call center effort. This included three managers and the adult programmer. The staff left to man the branch proved to be flexible and agile in providing services. Curbside holds and phone service kept us busy, with phones ringing almost constantly some days.

The youth service department hosted programs for adult services. We were able to offer the virtual English Conversation Club as well as the BookTalkers bookgroup, Kitchen Secrets and Creative Crafting among others.

There were 59 programs between YS and Adults with 25962 participants/views.

Hybrid Kits

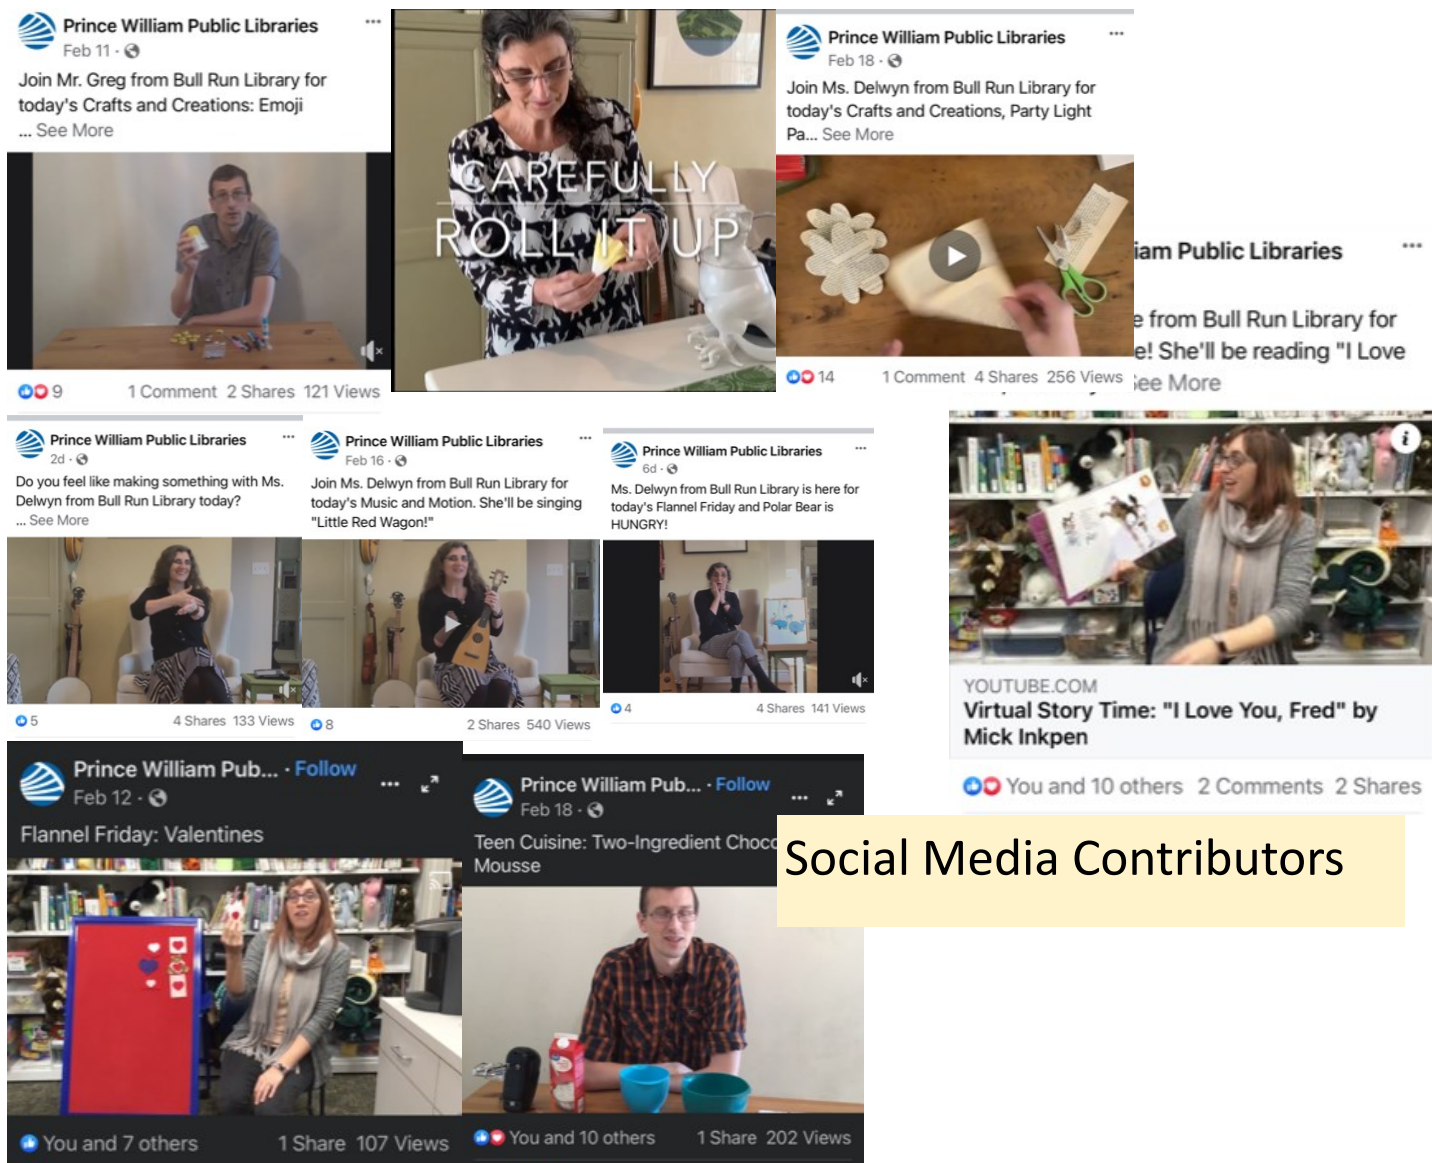

Hybrid Programming: School aged children have been difficult to reach during the Covid. Online schooling has made parents wary of additional screen time and our usual programming for this age group is not easily adapted to the virtual environment. This month we trialed book clubs and history groups combined with activity kits. Providing resources for the children to work with simultaneously has been the key to engaging with this audience. The children eagerly talk with each other on screen about the books and histories as they distractedly paint, craft and work on activities together. The success of this programming will guide our SRP offerings for this age group.

Hijab Day: The YS Team hosted a very successful WebEx program on celebrating World Hijab Day; partnering with presenters from the Islamic Circle of North America (ICNA). We began the program reading Under My Hijab by Hena Khan and then the presenters spoke dynamically about the hijab and why Muslim women choose to wear it. The program attracted #71 participants and continued our strong relationship with this community partner.

Hijab Day

WebEx Pre-school Story Time Bonus Resources: Every year, the pre-school children show great growth at this time of the year. Late winter programming is usually a time to increase the depth of reading and inquiry in story time. The children are more settled, in routine and eager, receptive learners. This month we attempted to meet that challenge using the WebEx platform. At the end of each story time we are introducing an e-resource that compliments and expands upon the week's theme. The families are engaging with this extension to our regular story time with relish and have been enjoying the additional learning opportunity.

Responding to Changing Branch Needs: The closing of the branches offered YS the opportunity to reorganize and reallocate shelf and display spaces. Displays have allowed us to engage with our Community in safe ways; providing readers advisory at a distance. February also allowed YS to finish preparing space for the new Tween seating area. The YS Team have been picking up extra programs, system and branch wide, to assist the staff redeployed to the Call Center. Greg and Delwyn have made additional videos for social media, lead English Conversation Class, Memoir Writers Group, Reading to Dogs, & Financial Literacy Programs. The closing of the Branch has changed the ways we have been able to advertise our upcoming programs. YS quickly adapted to be able to ensure our patrons could access BR spring program information.

Outreach: This month, we celebrated African American Heritage by partnering with Marsteller Middle School and providing diverse books to their students. We donated 80 books by diverse authors, and featuring diverse characters, to the school which helped to diversify their collection and strengthen our community ties.

YS also enjoyed meeting a new community partner, PWC Vocational Services Program, where we presented e-Resources and showed the group how to register for both a digital and physical library cards. The group especially liked Lynda.com and the art and music tutoring available for them to use. They were excited that they could check out books, music and movies online. We are excited to continuing this partnership in the future.

Expanding Outreach

YA/Teens: Despite the staffing issues of February, we were able to still offer almost all our planned YA programs while assisting with other departments and branches. We had excellent attendance for our offerings, which demonstrate the effectiveness of our social media efforts. The only program we did have to cut from our schedule because of the library closure was our Tinker Tuesday craft kits. However, we were able to make up for this by offering these kits to the Youth For Tomorrow organization, which offers important community service by providing care and education to migrant children. We were also able to create and expand display space in the Teen area of the library, allowing us to offer a more interactive and appealing space for our young adults.

Central Library

To: Deborah Wright, Library Director

From: Rebecca Lowe, Senior Library Manager

Subject: February 2021 Highlights

February started out very promising with offering more services including Studio 8601 Makerspace appointments and having our branch filled with patrons. Central was asked to become an in-person EOC Vaccine Call Center and most Central staff and staff from other buildings came to take on this very important task for our Prince William County community. It has been a rewarding experience being able to help the community in a way that we have never experienced before. Staff are looking forward to hopefully being able to return to some library services in March. In the meantime, we continue to offer help to the community with scheduling vaccines.

RELIC Monthly Report February 2021

Submitted by Kirk Johnson

February—even by standards of the past year—was an unusual month. Like all branches, Central had to temporarily close its doors to the public again, and one staff member was temporarily reassigned to Call Center duty along with dozens of other PWPL employees.

Yet despite the altered circumstances, RELIC was able to provide reference and research service through email and phone, continued working with outside partners and volunteers, and hosted three online programs by outside presenters via WebEx.

Programs featuring presenters from Prince William Historic Preservation, George Mason University, and the Bull Run Nature Preserve gave well-received programs viewed live by a total of 75 patrons. RELIC staff also managed to keep up with a steady stream of information requests and ongoing research projects.

Staff also made some progress on managing the large volume of archival material stored at other sites, and thanks to branch manager Rebecca Lowe we were able to receive a donated map viewer which will enable better visual analysis of large archival documents.

Also, thanks the HG Branch Manager Jessie Scalph, RELIC librarian Kirk Johnson was given the opportunity to give a live Zoom presentation on RELIC to a local chapter of Rotary International. Over a dozen Rotarians were in attendance, and others were able to view the recording. We always appreciate the chance to tell the public about who we are and what we do.

We will see what March brings!

Adult Services Monthly Report February 2021

Submitted by Tammy Schofield

The DIY Bath Bombs - A Take and Make Program had full registration, when curbside service was temporarily ended at several libraries, including Central. All registrants were contacted and received their kits either early or locations open for curbside.

The Blind Date With a Book program was canceled, however, the list of books selected will be useful for future programs.

Youth Services Monthly Report February 2021

Submitted by Rebecca Lowe

Youth Services programs continue to occur with the help of other Youth Services staff in the library system. Spanish Circle Story Time seems to be a favorite with a high participation rate. Take & Make Crafts and monthly challenge sheets are also popular with the school-age children. In February the children were able to take home a Lovebug craft kit. Even with the short time we were open to the public in February, we still had close to 30 kits taken home.

Laura Bosley, Youth Services Supervisor

February 2021

In February, the Chinn Park Library was closed to the public so our we cancelled several passive programs that were scheduled to be inside the library. The Youth Services Department continued to offer virtual programs for kids and teens. This month's LEGO Challenge was "Create Your Perfect Library". Laura Bosley held a live weekly Baby Story Time with Webex. John Diaz hosted a live weekly Preschool Story Time and a live Music and Motion with Webex. Both Laura and John contributed prerecorded virtual programs for library social media, including two story times, and a STEAM at Home. Youth Services also presented Reading to Dogs with the People Animals Love Organization and Spanish Circle Time with Roxanna Chaves.

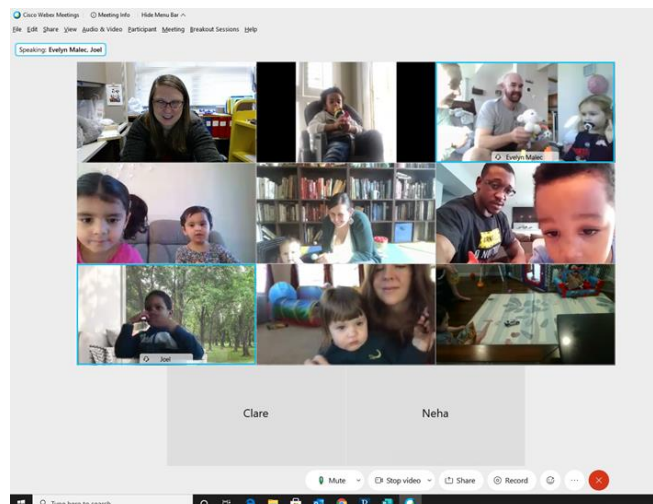

For teens, our department hosted a monthly Teen Advisory Group meeting via Webex.

Other passive programs in February included Valentines for Veterans and Chinn Park's annual Bookmark Contest. Valentines were collected until February 5, and bookmarks were collected throughout the month.

Rob Solka, Adult Program Librarian

February 2021

During the month of January, Adult Programming hosted regular programs virtually. Chinn Park had a combined total of 8 virtual programs and various AARP tax aid appointments with a total of 160 participants.

Chinn Park hosted a virtual job-hunting program presented by “YES Career Coaching & Resume Writing Services.” This program had an attendance of 7.

The regular program, English Conversation met 6 times during the month of January and had 80 participants in the virtual programs.

The AARP Tax Clinic began meeting with patrons for tax help appointments during the month of February and were able to serve a total of 70 patrons during the month.

The Regular program, the YA Bookclub for Adults, had its final meeting during February with 3 in attendance. The group read Dreadnought by April Daniels.

RE: February 2021 Highlights

The month of February at HG provided several days of wintery weather. We also began curbside service for our patrons. We sent several managers to assist with the EOC call center which is tasked with calling citizens to schedule Covid vaccine appointments. We have heard from several of our Friends and regular patrons, that they have been assisted by library employees working at the call center. Their experience with the library employees was that they were very friendly, pleasant, and efficient with setting up appointments.

We have been very busy with curbside assistance and in addition to bringing out library materials, we are now bringing out materials for crafts for our young patrons and adults. Both our adult and children's programmers have been planning and working on our summer reading programs. The gardening committee will see the natural pollinator garden installed here by Meadow Farms in early March. We are very excited to see this project come to fruition!

PWPL
Public Services Management

TO: Deborah Wright, Library Director
FROM: Mirna Turcios, Senior Library Manager
SUBJECT: February 2021 Highlights

February was a month of adaptation and learning at Manassas City Library. Our ribbon cutting was cancelled due to the season's first ice storm. PWPL was also called upon by the County to help staff the vaccine hotline during the transition to the state-wide system. Three Manassas City staff volunteered for this assignment and were immediately scheduled for training.

In order to re-assign staff to support the call center, eight of the 12 libraries were completely closed to the public effective February 2nd. The remaining four, including Manassas City, were reduced to curbside service only. Manassas City welcomed five staff from Potomac and Central to temporarily assist us while their home branches remained closed.

Staff at the branch quickly pivoted and re-imagined our opening to the public. We immediately took advantage of our movable stacks and repositioned two of these to face out into our storefront windows. We also increased the number of curbside appointments in anticipation of the demand. Several displays, including a dragon for Lunar New Year, were also repositioned in our storefront windows. Staff prepared swag gift bags and program flyers to distribute with curbside delivery of materials.

Staff also continued to work behind the scenes to fill in our shelves. We started the month with about 8,000 items in our collection and grew to over 13,000 by the end of February. This brought us up to 86% capacity of our shelving.

We held several tours for community stakeholders, including one virtual tour for the Rotary Club of Bull Run. We also presented a virtual storytime to NVFS/SERVE pre-school program at Georgetown South, prepared a Lunar New Year Take and Make craft kit, and collaborated with the Manassas City Museum to create a self-guided field trip guide for Black History Month.

As a result of our efforts, we circulated 1,755 items, about 92 items every day that we were open in February, delivered to patrons via approximately 350 curbside appointments.

From: Donna Horning, Information Services Manager
Subject: February 2021 Highlights

On Monday, February 8, Montclair closed to the public due to the reassignment of nine Adult and Youth Services staff and six Circulation staff to the health department's COVID-19 call center. The remaining Montclair staff were reassigned to the branches who were still providing curbside assistance. A "skeleton" crew came to Montclair daily to check in, shelve, and transfer holds requests.

Adult Services hosted the Writers' Room virtual meeting on Wednesday, February 10th. A total of six attendees enjoyed reading aloud and then critiquing the works.

Youth Services supported the county's Vaccine Call Center in February.

We are all looking forward to mid-March, when staff are slated to begin coming back to the branches. We are happily anticipating reopening to the public and normalizing our routines after a this long year of COVID-related disruptions.

The branch is pleased to have provided two staff members to the EOC vaccine call center efforts for most of February. Our remaining staff have been sent to support the Haymarket-Gainesville and Chinn Park branches while they continue to provide curbside to our patrons. We are also very grateful for Lake Ridge NL, whose manager has been so kind as to come check our book drop and ship holds requests to the open branches while we are assigned elsewhere.

In early February, Dumfries staff went elsewhere to work as Library staff were needed at the Emergency Operations Center to schedule vaccine appointments. 3 of us went to work at the call centers, and the other 3 have worked at various libraries, working with their teams to provide curb-side service.

Before we closed shop, staff found a way to distribute tax booklets and forms outside our building, we refreshed our window bulletin board, changed to window displays to reflect Black History Month, and the landing of the rover on Mars, highlighted the arts contest for children, and hoped for the best. It has been good to see our Dumfries patrons at Chinn Park, and keep that connection strong.

One of my colleagues stops by Dumfries daily to pull the requested book list, and keep things moving. I am in the building 1 day a week as well to ensure everything is in working order and ready to resume curbside service.

I have enjoyed the welcoming atmosphere at Chinn Park and have loved the fast paced experience of one of our larger branches.

Nokesville continues to provide virtual programming and hosted Crafternoon, LEGO Club, STEAM Ahead, and Story Time with Ms Glenna this month. We are all looking forward to returning to our branch and finding a safe and efficient way to bring more services back to our patrons.

DIVISION MONTHLY
REPORTS
FEBRUARY 2021

PWPL
Materials Services Division (MSD)

To: Deborah Wright, Library Director
From: Elizabeth Hensley, Acting Division Chief
Subject: February 2021 Highlights

All PWPL staff can now add “pivot on a dime” to their skill sets after February began with a request from the County that a third of our staff take over call center duties for setting COVID-19 vaccination appointments. With only a few days’ notice, we closed 8 branches to the public and set up a system for patrons to pick up holds at the 4 remaining locations who would continue to offer contact-free curbside service only.

While the impacts to public service and public services staff are the most obvious, a lot has to happen behind the scenes in support services to make these transitions go smoothly. Our Office of Community Engagement ensures the message makes it to our community through multiple methods and outlets; our Technology Services Division had to program changes in Polaris, our integrated library system (catalog) so that patrons would only be able to select the 4 curbside locations for picking up holds; our Office of Programming and Outreach had to revamp the programming schedule completely and in some cases pinch hit for staff who were moved to call center duties; and in Materials Services, we needed to ensure that everyone in the system knew how and where to send items – from materials for patrons to mail for staff – starting with our own drivers and physical processing staff members. Nancy Sampson, the Circulation Manager at Montclair, deserves to be commended for coordinating and collaborating on the temporary procedures and for being a bridge to Materials Services as we worked through the fine points of what processes would be impacted.

Selector Denise Fricke gets materials ready for a new MAGIC book kit.

Even though many plans had to be postponed this month, MSD staff carried on with the selection of new items and online resources, putting a pause on Fortunate Finds since patrons are not able to wander in and discover them, planning our expenditures for the upcoming end of the fiscal year, furiously and fastidiously cataloging and processing our backlog of materials while putting out another batch of 50 hotspots that were purchased by the County with CARES Act funding, and continuing to show up day after day for the community and for one another during this ongoing difficult period.

After 28 years, Library Technician Renee Paschal retired as of March 1. We held a small COVID-safe send-off with many staff attending via WebEx.

CHANGING SERVICES TO MEET A SIGNIFICANT NEED

Although responses were mixed with the announcement that PWPL would only offer Contact-Free Curbside Pickup beginning February 1 and limited pickup on February 8, general support from the community on social media and email continued pouring in all month long.

VIRGINIA — Virginia passed the 1 million COVID-19 vaccine mark over the weekend as the state slowly moves forward in getting its population vaccinated. As of Monday, 1,105,102 vaccine doses had been administered of the 1,580,800 doses distributed to the state, according to the Virginia Health Department.

As the nation nears the two-month anniversary of its vaccination program, 206,942 Virginians, or 2.4 percent of the state's population, have been fully vaccinated.

An estimated 10.5 percent of the state's population has received at least one dose of the vaccine. The first COVID-19 vaccines were given in the United States on Dec. 14.

At the county level, the Prince William Health District is administering the Moderna vaccine by appointment only. The county is working on getting its priority population in phases 1a and 1b vaccinated. The phase 1a priority population includes front-line health care providers. The phase 1b priority population includes people 65 and older and people between 16 and 64 who have underlying health conditions.

In the county, people who are 65 and older must fill out a form and wait to be contacted about a possible vaccination appointment.

Public school teachers in Prince William County are being vaccinated by Novant/UVA Prince William Medical Center with the county's Pfizer vaccine allocation. In Arlington County, 7,624 people have received their first doses of the COVID-19 vaccine, while 529 people, or a fraction of 1 percent of the county's population, have received their second dose of the vaccine, according to the health department.

On Friday, the Loudoun County Health Department said it is vaccinating about a thousand people daily and continues to schedule appointments for residents in the phase 1a and phase 1b of Virginia's vaccination priority groups. The Loudoun health department's ability to schedule more vaccination appointments is currently limited by the amount of vaccine received each week, officials said.

"The demand for vaccine across the region continues to be far greater than the available vaccine supply," the health department said. "At this time, Loudoun's vaccine supply is expected to remain limited until at least March."

COVID-19 Data

Across Virginia, there were 1,700 new coronavirus cases reported on Monday, including 246 in Northern Virginia. A cumulative total of 530,825 cases have been reported in the state to date.

Current COVID-19 hospitalizations stand at 2,279, including 464 in the intensive care units and 208 on ventilators. Northern Virginia has 200 current patients.

Improvements planned at Bull Run Library

» BY NOLAN STOUT
nstout@insidenova.com

The Bull Run Regional Library near Manassas has secured funding for a more than $582,000 improvement project.

The Prince William Board of County Supervisors appropriated $582,441 in proffer funds for the project during its Feb. 2 meeting.

Some of the space for the project was opened up through renovations to the Prince William-owned Central Community Library last year, said Rachel Johnson, the county's communications division chief for libraries.

As part of the improvements, the Ruth E. Lloyd Information Center for Genealogy and Local History was moved from Bull Run to the Central branch. The county plans to repurpose the information center's space for a community maker space service area.

Also at Bull Run, the large information desk in the center of the library will be removed to open up the floor.

Although design hasn't been finalized, the county plans to add seating for 12 to 17 people, provide two new study or meeting rooms for 10 to 14 users, expand the teenager section and redesign the children's area to reduce noise in the building.

Johnson said Bull Run is one of the largest and most popular of the county's 12 branches but doesn't currently have any meeting rooms. The existing study rooms were also consistently reserved prior to the coronavirus pandemic.

"It's going to be a really cool space for all ages," she said.

The county hopes to start work this year but doesn't have a construction timetable. Johnson said the project will require the library to close to the public; the comparable project at the Central branch took about six months.

Take library survey

FROM STAFF REPORTS

Prince William Public Libraries are researching new ways for residents to pick up materials and use the library's computers, Wi-Fi, and other technology without visiting one of the libraries in person.

Library personnel understand that not all residents are physically able to come into the libraries, due to locations, hours or other reasons. In an effort to expand services, the staff is looking at new ways to take library services to residents.

Opinions from potential users are being sought in a brief, eight-question survey that should take about three minutes to complete and will provide invaluable information in determining additional library services beyond the brick-and-mortar branches. Visit <http://bit.ly/pwplsurveyjan2021> to complete the survey. Some possible expansion ideas include:

A Parked Van or RV "mobile" library that would travel around Prince William County and the City of Manassas, park in highly-visible locations (think grocery store parking lot or outside a shopping center.) Weekly location(s) would be announced in advance via website and social media.

The "mobile" library might offer things such as physical

New ideas for library services

books, CDs, and DVDs to check out; computers; and may act as a mobile Wi-Fi hotspot for you to connect to from your own device.

Self-Service Holds Pickup Locker: This idea would be similar to Amazon lockers that are popping up around Prince William County. The lockers would be available at locations like grocery stores, banks, or convenience stores.

Library patrons would reserve physical items such as books, CDs, and DVDs through the online catalog or by calling one of the libraries, then - instead of going to a library to pick up the materials on hold - a patron could access one of these lockers with his/her library card to get the materials.

Depending on the location, these lockers would have extended hours, ideal for commuters or convenient when running errands.

Vending Machine: Just like a food vending machine, these vending machines would be stocked with new and popular book, CD, and DVD titles. A previous hold isn't required: Users could check out an item when it's available in the vending machine and return it to the same spot. Just like the lockers, these vending machines would be available beyond traditional library hours, according to the news release.

Are there other ways the libraries can be more available to your household?

Included with the survey is an "Additional Comments" section. If you have heard of other libraries around the country offering new and innovative ways to access materials and resources, the library staff would like to know.

Libraries revamp services to help staff Covid-19 vaccine call centers

Get more information at www.pwcgov.org.

FROM STAFF REPORTS

As of Monday, Feb., 8, ONLY Bull Run, Chinn Park, Haymarket Gainesville, and Manassas City Libraries are offering contact-free curbside pickup and phone service.

All other libraries are closed. Book drops at all 12 libraries will remain open.

The libraries revamped their services after Prince William Public Libraries' staff was asked to provide more staff for the COVID-19 Vaccine Call Center.

Holds for Nokesville can be picked up at Bull Run Regional Library. Holds for Lake Ridge, Dale City, Dumfries, Independent Hill, Montclair and Potomac can be picked up at Chinn Park Regional Library. Holds for Central can be picked up at the new library in Manassas City.

Curbside pick up only right now. Library users can reserve a book or DVD and receive an email when it is available for pick up.

Then you call the library to let them know you are coming. And then call from the parking lot, and someone will bring your library materials out to your vehicle.

New library set to open in Manassas

Facility part of new deal between city and county

» BY JARED FORETEK
jforetek@insidenova.com

Prince William County and Manassas will open their newest library next month, the first within city limits.

On Feb. 2, the 6,000-square foot library will open at the Wellington Station shopping center on Dumfries Road, part of a new shared services library agreement between the city and county. Under the 10-year deal, the county will hold the lease for the library space, and the city is responsible for buying the furnishings and fixtures, as well as the limited retrofitting needed to turn the storefront space into a library.

On top of what the city spent on the new library, it will pay the county $1.2 million annually for a much broader agreement that allows residents of both localities to use all 12 of the libraries that are part of the county's library system. That $1.2 million was a slight decrease from the previous agreement, although it includes a 3% annual escalator.

Rachel Johnson, a communications division chief for the county, said the library will house over 16,000 materials, 12 computers for public use, free public wi-fi, and two study rooms – although those will be unavailable as long as the COVID-19 pandemic continues.

The new library is in the Wellington Station shopping center on Dumfries Road. Features will include 12 computers for public use and free public wi-fi.

"The library itself, it's going to be gorgeous. Open windows on the front end; I love the look of it," Johnson told InsideNoVa. "We were excited to be able to work with them [the city] to do that." As with all the system's libraries during the pandemic, group programming will be entirely online initially. Within its first month of opening, Johnson said plans include an art class in which residents can come by the library to pick up supplies and take them home to participate. Ten full-time employees will work at the new branch.

Last year, Manassas Park decided to leave what was a three-way agreement among the jurisdictions, opting to open a placeholder library within the city before building a new library as part of its new city hall building downtown.

The biggest and oldest branch in the county's system, Central Library just outside the Manassas city limits, reopened in November after extensive renovations and the onset of the pandemic. It originally opened in 1971, 19 years after the county first established a public library that occupied existing county building space.

When the new agreement between the county and Manassas was reached, Manassas City Manager Patrick Pate said that the new branch would allow the city to gauge the possibility of a potentially more expansive option down the road, such as a city-owned standalone library in the Old Town area.

"[City residents] will have access to all the libraries they had access to before ... and they'll have a library inside the city to use, so quite honestly I think everybody that uses the library services have more and better services to use," Pate told InsideNoVa last summer.

On February 29, the city of Kirkland, Washington, reported what was then believed to be the nation's first death from Covid-19. Just three weeks later, the American Library Association recommended libraries across the nation close their doors to the public—an unprecedented, but necessary step in the face of a historic global health crisis. Initial reports suggested the shutdowns would last a few weeks, maybe a few months. But with the calendar now into 2021, Covid-19 has exacted a heavy toll, and a return to some semblance of normalcy is not yet in sight.

As the one-year anniversary of the first Covid-19 shutdowns approaches, this latest installment of PW's Live from the Library Lounge discussion series will take stock of where libraries stand. What have we learned about the virus, and our public health systems? What has worked—and what has not? What mistakes were made? What have we learned about keeping library workers and the public safe? And have we learned about library services and library users during this year of closures, limited service, and forced experimentation?

Live from the Library Lounge: Covid-19 and Public Libraries—One Year Later

The free webinar series for librarians will resume with a discussion exploring how Covid-19 has impacted public libraries, including the successes, failures, the hard lessons learned, and the challenges and opportunities yet to come.

DATE: March 4 at 1 p.m. EST

Speakers:

Joslyn Bowling Dixon

Bowling Dixon has served as Director of the Newark Public Library since August of 2020, taking over in teeth of the pandemic. She was formerly the Deputy Director of the Prince William Public Library System in Virginia, where she also served as the Chair of the Virginia Library Association's (VLA) Librarians of Color Forum and as VLA's Vice President.

Brian Kenney, Ph.D

Kenney is director of the White Plains (N.Y.) Public Library and a former editorial director of Library Journal, School Library Journal, and Publishers Weekly. He is also a Publishers Weekly columnist and contributing editor, and in June authored the column "All By Ourselves" which addressed the systemic challenges and lack of guidance librarians are battling through in addressing the pandemic.

Annie Norman, Ph.D

Norman is State Librarian and Director of the Delaware Division of Libraries, a role she has served in since 2002. Under her leadership, the statewide Delaware Library Catalog Consortium was established, currently 74 participating libraries are sharing 2.5 million items for the benefit of Delawareans. In 2016, she was the first librarian to be inducted into the Hall of Fame of Delaware Women.

Patty Wong

Wong is currently City Librarian for the Santa Monica(CA) Public Library, and is the President-Elect for the American Library Association, set to take office in June 2021. Wong is a Library Journal Mover and Shaker, a recipient of the ALA Equality Award (2012). In addition to her role as board member for a number of nonprofit institutions, Wong is also adjunct faculty for the iSchool at San Jose State University, where she has taught since 2004

Hosted by Andrew Richard Albanese, Publishers Weekly Senior Writer

Among his beats, Albanese leads PW's library coverage. He has covered the publishing and information technology fields for more than 20 years, and is a former associate editor of American History at Oxford University Press, a former editor at Library Journal, and the author of The Battle of $9.99: How Apple, Amazon and the Big Six Publishers Changed the E-Book Business Overnight.

Into the Future with Prince William Public Libraries

The dedicated staff is always ready to help you navigate the library system!

By Kate Anderson

Prince William Public Libraries is forging headlong into the future with constant growth and modernization. The modern library is not just about hard-copy books anymore (though some really great ones live there). Bright airy buildings with computers to access e-books, journals, movies and music, peaceful workstations, welcoming and knowledgeable staff, community gatherings and programs, and rooms specifically devoted to things like art and ancestry, show how libraries are much more relevant, important and necessary to the community than ever before.

Connecting with Community Programming

"Prince William Public Libraries' mission is to bring together people, information and ideas to enrich lives and build community in a welcoming, inclusive environment," says Rachel Johnson, Communication Services Division Chief, PWPL Office of Community Engagement. "There's no better way to do that than to open our doors — both physical and virtual. [We] have always been an active, engaged member of the greater Prince William community. Our vision to be the hub connecting people to the transforming power of information has always included traditional library services as well as innovative approaches to provide a true experience when visiting our libraries."

Before COVID-19, Prince William Public Libraries were bustling places with more than 100 programs taking place every month. Before the pandemic, in-person programs were thriving with every age group: story times, Music and Motion, Teen Advisory Groups, book clubs of all genres and even craft programs. In addition to the outstanding programming, the libraries "are a hub to keep people connected, quite literally," says Johnson. Each of the 11 libraries has computers available, offers free mobile WiFi, printing, copying and faxing (the last three for a minor fee). A main goal is "to expand our services to provide patrons with more resources and information each time they come into the library," says Johnson.

Johnson notes that, "In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, all programs are currently virtual at Prince William Public Libraries. One may think this prevents us from doing quality programming, but quite the contrary! We offer all the same programs, just online, which — for many people who may not have been able to join us for in-person programs in the past — we're seeing more views and engagement through our virtual programs. The COVID-19 pandemic has changed a lot of how we do things at our libraries, but — fortunately — not whether or not we're able to."

The Virtual Expanse of the Digital Library

The Prince William Public Libraries' Digital Library is available online. Particularly important during COVID-19, this opens a digital world to library patrons from wherever they are. Patrons use the Digital Library to support virtual learning, for entertainment and enjoyment. Your Digital Library provides free access to thousands of online and digital resources including e-books, audiobooks, newspapers and premium websites.

For those who don't currently have a library card, Prince William County and City of Manassas residents can access all of the library's digital services by signing up online for a digital library card. Visit pwcgov.org/library and select the blue "Sign Up for a Library Card Today" banner.

Makerspace, RELIC and MAGIC

In late 2020, Central Library's Studio 8601 Makerspace opened and took what it means to be a library to another level. The Makerspace has something for all ages, including 3-D Printers; Cricut machines; 3-D laser cutters; sewing, embroidery machines, and even a loom; virtual reality headsets; AV recording equipment; scanners and Media Conversion Technology; various art supplies, textiles, and jewelry crafting; tech and coding toys. It truly is a remarkable space where your imagination can run wild. For hours of operation and more information on Makerspace, call 703-792-8361.

After more than 25 years at Bull Run Library, the RELIC genealogy and local history department has relocated to Central Library into a new and larger space. There are books, microfilm archival material and databases for patrons interested in family history, or the history of their local property. RELIC also offers live and prerecorded programs every month. For more information, email relic2@pwcgov.org or call 703-792-8380.

MAGIC, Prince William Public Libraries' Management and Government Information Center, is another resource available to patrons. As Johnson explains, "MAGIC is a special collection and information service located at Chinn Park Library. MAGIC's collection focuses on local and state government information and publications. MAGIC has specialized staff and resources to assist members of the community, including local government agencies and area businesses and nonprofits, to start or grow a business, retrieve industry information, seek grant funding, and access laws and regulations." If you would like assistance with government, business or legal information, please contact MAGIC at magic2@pwcgov.org or 703-792-4880.

Exciting Changes in 2021

One of the most exciting changes in 2021 is the newest library branch, the Manassas City Library at Wellington Station Shopping Center. Manassas City Library will be the 12th branch in the library system and will be a coordinated effort with the City of Manassas. This new library will continue the tradition of providing resources and programming for all ages. Featuring an open floorplan, there will be inviting spaces to enjoy an expansive collection of books, resources, meeting rooms, comfortable seating, public computers and free Wi-Fi access.

In fall 2020, a new initiative was announced: Career Online High School. Prince William Public Libraries is offering qualified community members the opportunity to earn an accredited high school diploma and credentialed career certificate through Career Online High School, a program brought to public libraries by Gale, a Cengage company. Part of the world's first accredited, private online school districts, Career Online High School is specifically designed to re-engage adults into the education system and prepare them for entry into post-secondary career education or the workforce. In Prince William County, it is estimated that 40,000 adults — more than 10% of the County's population — do not have a high school diploma. Learn more at pwcgov.org/cohs.

Prince William Public Libraries is constantly evolving and innovating to provide you with new services and resources. During the COVID-19 pandemic, hours of operation, services and branch openings are frequently changing. For the latest information, please visit pwcgov.org/library.

March Celebrations and Activities to Keep Us All Going

— February 28, 2021

Rebecca Barnes, Publisher

In some ways, it's hard to believe we've been living through a pandemic for a year now. In other ways, it feels like ages since life was normal. In this issue, we've included a variety of safe, distanced activities to keep you active and engaged as we continue to experience COVID-19. It's my hope that the book, recipes and activities featured in this issue will bring some enrichment to your lives as we wait for spring to bring us warmth and sunshine.

If you're feeling cooped up and in need of some motivation in the exercise department, check out our Destinations section. We're featuring several virtual runs to get you moving and support local nonprofits. Perhaps it's your mind in need of some brain food. Prince William Public Library System has books, e-books, a makerspace and more to keep you busy. Read about all they have to offer in Lifelong Learning.

While spending more time at home, why not savor the (hopefully) last few chilly days and fill your home and belly with the warmth of some delicious soups and stews? Our PWL staff has rounded up our favorites, and we're sharing them with you in Local Flavor. There are some absolutely mouthwatering recipes!

March 2 is Read Across America Day, and our Family Fun section has some creative ways to celebrate with your little ones. Find a new book to share in our On a High Note section — a children's book by local author (and Prince William Living Director of Operations) Amanda Baity. And keep the learning going with some smart money lessons for kids in Your Finances.

Pandemic or not, Prince William always has impressive women among us. We're honoring the best of the best through our Influential Women Awards this month. Read all about the winners in our feature. And continue reading about positive impacts in our Giving Back section, featuring the generous hearts and hands of those at Masroor Mosque Food Pantry.

Last but not least, March is Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month. Our Health and Wellness section shares important, life-saving screening information from a local expert.

We continue to wish you all good health and safety. And to all first responders, medical professionals and essential workers, we see you and are eternally grateful.

Achieve Your Financial Goals with the Help of Prince William Public Libraries

While April is Financial Literacy Month, Prince William Public Libraries has fun challenges, programs, and resources available for residents to help meet their financial goals starting this month. Financial Literacy Month brings more focus to educating about the importance of setting achievable financial goals, whether they be budgeting, retirement, or investing.

Join PWPL's Smart Money Challenge for a chance to win a gift card! Sign up for the challenge from March 1 to April 17 on the Beanstack Tracker app (download: iOS App Store and Google Play). Complete three challenges in Financial Planning, Good Habits, Frugality, or Saving and be entered into a drawing to win a gift card!

PWPL will be offering virtual Financial Literacy programs on Spending Plans and Understanding Credit. Register for one or both programs being offered. Select Financial Literacy Series to view the programs.

PWPL's Digital Library provides free access to thousands of online and digital resources including eBooks, audiobooks, newspapers, and premium websites. Under the "Financial" tab, those with a library card can access Consumer Reports, Virginia Legal Forms, and more.

For those interested in reading about Financial Literacy, PWPL has created booklists for all ages. Even the youngest readers can learn from Curious George or young Booker T. Washington how smart saving and spending can make a big difference. For new adults and adults, titles like "Broke Millennial Takes on Investing" and "Money Hacks" are entertaining and informative when embarking on financial success.

All programs in March 2021 will be offered virtually.

PRINCE WILLIAMLibrary late fees on the chopping block

March 02, 2021 - Uriah Kiser

Library late fines could be a thing of the past in Prince William County.

As the Board of County Supervisors deliberates over its proposed budget of more than $1.3 billion to take effect July 1, it can kill the fines that have served as a recourse method to get residents to return books and other materials to local libraries.

The county's Board of Library Trustees says it wants to eliminate the fines due to, in part, the pandemic. It penned a resolution to County Executive Christopher Martino that included this clause:

WHEREAS, the Prince William Public Libraries intends to remove barriers for a population who cannot advocate for themselves, control how and when library materials are returned, or to remove barriers to access for families of students who may be struggling with learning environments during the pandemic and post-pandemic.

According to the library board, in 2019, $54,000 of the $283,000 in total fines collected were paid by students, the library board states. While late fees will go away, fees for lost or damaged items would not, library spokeswoman Rachel Johnson says.

"For patrons who allow accounts to get past due, they will still run the risk of being sent to a collection agency," she adds.

How will the library recoup the money from late fees? Prince William County taxpayers, as those funds have been built into Martino's budget, which, overall, is 7% bigger than last year. If approved, a homeowner with a house valued at $400,000, paying an additional $315 in county Real Estate taxes.

The Board of Supervisors is set to approve the new budget next month. This year, the library is now a department of the county, transitioned from an independent organization that used to include both Manassas and Manassas Park's cities.

Last summer, Manassas Park left the county's library system, where it was a member since the late 1970s, and opened a new library for city residents at Blooms Park (the old Generals Ridge Golf Course).
